

When nothing is right anymore a psychological crisis leads to many questions

Sozialpsychiatrische Zentren (Social-Psychiatric Centres) provide support and advice:

- » for people with a mental health issue
- » for people in a crisis
- » and for their friends and relatives

These centres can provide you with help and advice for all issues concerning mental health and disorders, especially if you come from another country and another culture.

The Social-Psychiatric Centres can provide you with free, no-obligation advice and offer you the opportunity to meet other people and share your experiences.

Interpreter-services can also be provided where required.

Whether for advice on how to deal with mental disorders or simply for a weekend excursion, we look forward to welcoming you!
